

THE UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Professor Ashwani Pareek, School of Life Sciences, JNU has been appointed as Adjunct Professor in the Institute of Agriculture, University of Western Australia

---

NEWS: MAY 9TH, 2017

---

Professor Ashwani Pareek, Professor of Plant Molecular Biology and Biotechnology at School of Life Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, has been appointed as Adjunct Professor in the Institute of Agriculture, University of Western Australia initially for three years. Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, UWA Professor Dawn Freshwater conferred the title of Adjunct Professor to Professor Pareek. The appointment of Adjuncts is one of the most significant ways in which the University builds relationships with disciplines and professions. Professor Pareek is leading several International and National programs in the area of abiotic stresses. His adjunct appointment formally recognizes his contribution in the area of Crop biotechnology and provides a foundation for further collaborations between JNU and UWA.