Circular

You are aware that due to the ongoing agitation by a group of students, thousands of students who wish to resume their academic activities are adversely affected. The JNU Administration has appealed to the agitating students time and again to return to their classes and resume their academic works. With each passing day, the prospects of maintaining the minimum teaching days in a Semester as per the UGC Rule is getting grimmer.

In continuation with earlier communication, all Deans, Chairpersons and faculty members are hereby requested to share the following crucial information to the students and apprise them of the academic rules of the University so that their academic interests can be protected:

I. According to university's academic rules, the Sessional Examinations need to be conducted as per the approved academic calendar before the End Semester Examinations, which is from 12th December until 20th December.

II. Keeping in view the present scenario, all those Centres where the third Sessional Exams have not been conducted yet, the concerned Deans and Chairpersons are requested to ensure that the Sessional Exam schedules are announced at the earliest and conducted by the concerned teachers as per the schedule. There should be at least a gap of one week between the End Semester Exam and the Third Sessional Exam. It may be ensured that all the mandatory academic requirements are fulfilled by the students before they sit for the end semester examinations.

III. The last date for submission of M.Phil. dissertation/Ph.D thesis in the Schools/Centres and forwarding the same to Evaluation Branch is 31st December for the Monsoon Semester. All concerned faculty are requested to make their respective students aware of this deadline.

IV. Academic ordinance relating to the Award of the Master of Philosophy Degree (Clause 7), stipulates that students need to clear at least 50% of the total courses and in case they fail to clear any of these courses (vide Clause 8) or fail to secure a CGPA of 5.00 on completion of course work at the end of 2nd semester their name will be automatically removed from the roll list of the University.
